Capital and Surilly, $\frac{1}{1}$ $450,000 $\frac{1}{1}$ Ills above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit bashoss entirely upon their real mortls. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but Five equals, and no surperfors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permaneut than individual, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuarious of the market, and liable, in times of yearie, as the experience of the past banks, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and monesided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital tries the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they chain the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal purronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a sories of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mantaul Companies, and a critainty given instead of an amountainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid. CAPITAL AND SUBILUS, - -

The Pile's Peak fever has taken off sevral of our citizens.

The Chicago nomination meets with the cordial approbation of the party here. MUSTY ASSETS-A WORD TO BUSINESS MEN.-Take down your ledger, open your pocket book, pull out your drawers, look over your papers, and see what portion of your capital is lying dead. Now why spend the most valuable portion of this active period in digging and delving over old musty debts. We believe, as things run from year to year, that the best way is to settle upon ome terms, every debt, as soon as it is found that it is in a doubtful state. Take what you can get—ninety, sixty, thirty, or ten cents to the dollar. Of course a mistake will now and then be made, but when the dividend is once in hand, however small it may be, use it with more care than before. An old debt once settled, can certainly nev er again bother you. That is one comfort, Above all things, as much as lieth in you ive at peace with all men-i.e., don't go to law it you can avoid it. Make your own collections. We say again to the business men of our great cities, don't let a debt stand a year on your books. Time flies, and your life is fast passing. Let your best efforts be put forth in the very centre of your business. In that direction there is profit, and what is more, satisfaction .- N. 1. Independent.

Sine by Side.-Dickens tells of a little girl that died, one of two that bloomed into being, twin buds together.

The years went by, and the dead was not forgotten, but hand in hand with the living sister, was held in the same clasp of love. The twain kept pace; as the one blossomel into mnturer beauty, so did the other; side by side they shared Time's dewy gifts, the living and the dead; when they thought of the one, it was that she was so old or so old; when they locked upon the other, they saw a sweet resemblance. Thus the mother and the girls passed down the years, and never parted company.

There is indeed a strange delight in the thought of two a world apart, thus moving parallel; one on the dusty earth, and one in Paradise Regained. No mordering past in such a death; it is not death, but only walking on the river's other side; the other side, where, as the German said, we sometimes see the soft blue smoke of catage homes, where wait the dear ones who went on before. The little grave contains the chrysalis, and the girl shall not wander far from home these many years. If they plant a rosetree by her pillow, June shall cover it with beauty. Let those bads be precious, for the bloom the roses bear, perhaps was stolen from the cheek they loved to press, and so the child will linger in disguise, and the dying summer bear to and fro her breath upon its golden wing .- Chicago Journal. BLACKGUARDING HAS BEGUN. The Augusta (Ga.) Dispatch says mildly that "the candidate of the black republican party for the presidency is a recreant son of the south -a trailer to the mother that here himhaving been born in Hardin county, Kentucky, February 12, 1809, and is, therefore, 51 years old. He was a plowboy, but emirated to Illinois at the age of 21, where he became captain of a company of volunteers against the Indians, and unfortunately for the country, escaped the tomahawk and scalping-knife."

ISAAC V. FOWLER IN HAVANA, -A letter from Havana informs us that Fowler, the defaulting postmoster, is now in Havana, where he arrived by steamer form New York. This sets at rest the various rumors of his having gone to Europe, Brazil and other places. He has not been generally recognised in Havana, but the above information is deemed correct.

STRUCK HIM HEAVY .- One of our upiver lumbermen, while in a southern city, recently, struck a soft seat in front of Mr. Fare's bank, and as the thing began coming his way, in seven hours' playing raked the fur from the "tiger" to the tune of $15, 000. Orthodox people will say that is no good way to make money, but it is a handy thing to have about the house for all that! We mention no name, but the lucky man is well known here and in Milwackee, as well as elsewhere, La Crosse Union.

THE RACE OF GUARTS.—In his speech before the Central Campaign Club last night, ex-Senator Truman Smith alinded to the size of "Honest Old Abe," when some one in the audience called out, "he is six feet Yes, said Mr. Smith, and the most tbree.'' entertaining sight I wish to see is the real giant striding across the country with the duck-legged Little Giant trying to keep up to him. It is easy to see how that race would end .- Evening Post.

MUSTY ASSETS-A WORD TO BUSINESS MEN.—Take down your ledger, open your pocket book, pull out your drawers, look over your papers, and see what portion of your capital is lying dead. Now why spend the most valuable portion of this active period in digging and delving over old musty debts. We believe, as things run from year to year, that the best way is to settle upon some terms, every debt, as soon as it is found that it is in a doubtful state. Take what you can get-ninety, sixty, thirty, or ten cents to the dollar. Of course a mistake will now and then be made, but when the dividend is once in hand, however small it may be, use it with more care than before.

An old debt once settled, can certainly never again bother you. That is one comfort. Above all things, as much as lieth in you live at peace with all men—i.e., don't yo to law it you can avoid it. Make your own collections. We say again to the business men of our great cities, don't let a debt stand a year on your books. Time flies, and your life is fast passing. Let your hest efforts be put forth in the very centre of your business. In that direction there is profit, and what is more, satisfaction.—N.

Sine by Sine .-- Dickens tells of a little girl that died, one of two that bloomed into being, twin buds together. .

The years went by, and the dead was not torgotten, but hand in hand with the living sister, was held in the same clasp of love.

The twain kept pace; as the one blossomel into maturer beauty, so did the other side by side they shared Time's dewy gifts the living and the dead; when they thought of the one, it was that she was so old or so old; when they looked upon the other, they saw a sweet resemblance. Thus the mother and the girls passed down the years, and never parted company.

There is indeed a strange delight in the thought of two a world apart, thus moving parallel; one on the dusty earth, and one in Paradise Regained. No mouldering past in such a death; it s not death, but only walking on the river's ther side; the other side, where, as the German said, we cometimes see the soft blue smoke of cattage homes, where wait the dear ones who went on before.

The little grave contains the chrysalis, and the girl shall not wander far from home these many years. If they plant a rose-tree by ber pillow, June shall cover it with In Olio, $131,520 83 Michigan, 106,955 or 10 flying summer bear to and fro her breath upon its golden wing .- Chicago Journal.

> BLACKGUARDING HAS BEGUN - The Au gusta (Ga.) Dispatch says mildly that " the candidate of the black republican party for the presidency is a recreant son of the south —a traiter to the mother that hore him having been born in Hardin county, Kentucky, February 12, 1809, and is, therefore, 51 years old. He was a plowboy, but emigrated to Illinois at the age of 21, where he became captain of a company of volunteers against the Indiaus, and unfortunately for the country, escaped the tomahawk and scalping-knife."

ISAAC V. FOWLER IN HAVANA .-- A letter from Havana informs us that Fowler, the defaulting postmaster, is now in Havann, where he arrived by steamer form New York, This sets ut rest the various rumors of his having gone to Europe, Brazil and other places. He has not been generally recognised in Havana, but the above information is deemed correct.

STRUCK HIM HEAVY .-- One of our upever lumbermen, while in a southern city, recently, struck a soft seat in front of Mr. Paro's bank, and as the thing began coming his way, in seven hours' playing raked the fur from the "tiger" to the tune of $15, 000. Orthodox people will say that is no good way to make money, but it is a handy thing to have about the house for all that! We mention no name, but the lucky man is well known here and in Milwankee, as well as elsewhere.—La Crosse Union.

THE RACE OF CIANTS .- In his speech be fore the Central Campaign Club last night, ex-Senator Truman Smith alinded to the size of "Honest Old Abe," when some one in the audience called out, "he is six feet three." Yes, said Mr. Smith, and the most entertaining sight [wish to see is the real giant striding across the country with the duck-legged Little Giant trying to keep up to him. It is easy to see how that race would end.—Evening Post.

THE CHARLESTON CONVENTION. - While the democratic convention at Charlestonwas quarreling "ahout niggers," it seems Sambo took advantage of the "noise and confusion" to run away. A Charleston paper says: "We understand that about fifteen negroes have been missing since the adjournment of the convention, which evidently shows that that body was accompanied by some private emissaries of the under-ground Southern cities will be shy of democratic conventions after this.

The news of the great prize fight was received in San Francisco in nincteen days and a half from the time it left Eugland, by the opportune arrival of the Vanderbilt at New York the day that the pony express left St. Joseph. This is the quickest time between England and the Pacific ever made.

The Men for the Crisis.

Honesty in the government is in demand. The numerous speculations in contracts; in the sale of government property, and in the navy yards; the defidentions in the post offices; the corruption in congress, a committee of the house proving that members of that body have sold their votes to the president or his agents; the bad faith not to say falsehood of the president himself, in relation to Kansas matters; are all so many motives, which now urge the people to book for homest men to place at the head of the nation. We have been ruled so long by mere politicians that there must be a change in the character of our rulers. The good sense of the masses of the people peris ites plainly that the nation is sick, and must have a good physician or death will easae. When mon are compelled by the exigency of the case to look about to avert a great calamity which is threatened, the sense of fear or apprehension sharpens their minds, and they think quickly and generally with great accuracy. So now in the political world, the times domand honest, courageour, faithful men at the helm of the ship of ed and are recognised as the right men for of cattle, and the loss in stock alone must the right place, as soon as named. The nomination of Lincoln and Hamlin is responded to throughout the land with a part, or the whole of his stock. amonimity and an enthusiasm rarely witpossed in this country, solely because they process the grand characteristics needed to themselioned: they have conscienciousness. and serupatous fidelity; they are men of honor, and possess the courage to do right.

Such are some of the characteristics now acress any to meet the crisis in our affairs, that town, and the freight depot of the C. and the people with unerring judgment re-Cognice Abraham Lincoln and Hannibal Hamlin as the men for that crisis, and are the track and broken up. One of them entiving to their support throughout the heavily loaded with lumber was lifted into tand with unpacalleled ununimity. For the Daily Gazette.

From the Chicago Journal. THE IOWA TORNADOES.

Chinton, June 5, 1360. As I write you, all the charming little villages which dot the fertile slopes on either side of the Chicago, Iowa & Nebraska railroad between Cedar Rapids and Camanche, a station 5 mile south of Clinton, are wrapped in desolution and their inhabitants clad in vestures of mourning. The terrific torlike the wings of the destroying angel, and the setting sun, at the next moment, in a second, in the twinkling of an eye, were razed to the ground in one mass of chaotic ruins; hearthstones were destroyed; the hopes of the farmer and mechanic thwarted by the in an instant broken, past reuniting. In goods store; Anthony's steam saw mill and many places here and there a house distort two churches, all of which are in ruins. ed and twisted into fanciful shapes, a ragged mass of shivered timbers or a crumbling chimney, alone marks the site of a mittee at Camanche: Hannah Curran, G. The tornulocs, for they were two in number, commenced as near as can be ascertained at a little town called Palo, a short distance above Cedar Rapids, about 7 o'clock on Sunday evening, and rapidly progressed to Cedar Rapids, gathering size and force in their course. At Cedar Rapids, they veered and almost miraculously passed on either side of the town. On the west side, tive houses were completely demolished, one man killed and one severely injured. Miss Lutze living between Marion and Cedar Rapids was also killed. South of the Rapids, two houses were blown down, but their occupants escaped. In the woods near this point, a man observed the tornado approachng and instantly threw himself among some hazel bushes with his face to the ground and clung to their branches for prosection. They passed over him, hurting him a distance of some rods and stripping every vistage of clothing from his body. Another man was surprised in a similar manner and threw his arms around a young beech tree, holding on with all his strength, which was considerable, as he was an unusually powerful man. The whirlwind however, as quick as thought, unwrenched his grasp, as one would snap a pipe stem, hurled him in to the air and dashed him to the ground, and twice and thrice repeated it, of course leaving him a corpse. Another man, as established by affidavits of respectable citizens of Hertram, the first station east of Cedar Rapids, was caught up from the town ling house. No other known force could plat, hurled in the air and carried high above the timber until he was out of sight. Cattle, horses and sheep were also drawn up in the airy Muclstrom, whirled terrifically about and dashed to the earth again with a force which reduced them to a mere pulpy mass The prairies between Ceder Rapids and De state. Vernon, live persons are known to have been killed, but their names are unknown, or were not handed in to the committee at the time of our leaving.

The next place which felt the effects of the tornado, was the little town of Mechanproper to say thus much to correct the itsville. It passed through the outskirts of the village, sweeping everything in its course. Nine dead bodies were found within a short distance of the town, and nineteen persons were injured, two of them seriously. At Onion Grove, two persons were killed; and one at Eden, a small settlement between Cedar Rapids and De Witt. At De Witt, especially in the township, the tornado was felt with fearful force. At this place it crossed the track in a southerly direction, passing through a portion of country occupied entirely by farmers, destroying many farms and killing a great amount of stock. An old farmer, named George Ames, living in a large brick house, saw the storm rapidly approaching, and gathering his famly together went into the potuto hole in the cellar. The house was entirely demolished but the whole family were saved. At Pur-cell's, four were wounded; at Fuller's, six; at Betsey's, five. At Mr. Hatfield's, six persons by the name of l'oster, were killed.

Mr. H.'s daughter, Sarah Fry, and her child, were also killed. At John Wallace's immense farm, eight were wounded, some of them seriously. Mr. W.'s loss is over $20.-000. Mr. Walrod, his wife and child, were killed, and his sister-in-law and child were dying when we left. Mr. and Mrs. Gregoire, iving upon the same farm, were killed .-Three Germans and two Irishmen, names from Italy by a strait only one mile in width.

CAMANCHE.

The day had been very hot and sultry, but about seven o'clock the sky was clear and gave evidence of a beautiful sunset. At seven o'clock, the forundoes were seen coming with the rapidity of lightning. The sky assumed a yellowish, brassy aspect and the air seemed dead. The tornodoes themselves resembled huge balloons at first, about the size of a barrel, but gradually increasing and swelling. At one time they rose and again fell to the earth, their black folds undulating and whirling with snapping, crackling reports like a volley of unsketry, distinctly audible at a great distance. The interior of the airy tunnels was filled with a heterogeneous mass of leaves, branches of trees, timbers and stones, which seemed to impart a yellowish tinge inside the black outer folds. There was but little time for gazing, however, for in an instant, and with a force inconcoivable, the doomed town was struck full a picture of his mother. He stood upon in the centre, and the air choked with frag the ruins rubbing it with his coat sleeve ments of timbers, bricks, stones, furniture.

above all was heard the snapping and cracking of these fearful besoms of destruction. The scene well nigh beggars description and one, after guzing upon it, only wonders how a single person was left to tell the tale. There are but one or two buildings in this town of 2000 souls which were unfouched; all the others are a shapeless mass of ruins. In many places, for several acres, every remnant of a house is gone and only a few scattered slivers mark the spot where they nadoes of which the telegraph has furnish stood. A singular feature of the scene is ed condensed facts, have passed over them the fact that from one end of the town to the other not a vestige of the furniture can towns which one moment stood beautiful in be found. Here and there a few shreds of clothing or a mattrass torn into ribbons. tell that the town was once inhabited.

The principal buildings in Camanche were the Millard House, a fine brick structure. The Waldorf Block, a four story terrible Cyclone; and many family circles brick, valued at $40,000; Evern & Co.'s dry

The official list reports 82 Waymond White, and a child of in the hands of the committee reports 82 wounded, many of them seriously, and 15 are reported missing, 3 of whom it is supposed were blown into the river.

INCIDENTS.

Many of the incidents connected with the tornado at Camanche almost surpass human belief, and will hardly be credited by those who have not seen the ruins. A chimney upon Mr. Anthony's house, weighing about two tons, was broken off at its junction with the roof, lifted into the air and hurled down into the front yard, burying itself in out into the world, ruined in an instant. the ground to a depth of three feet without breaking or cracking a single brick. noticed an oak tree on the river bank, by measurement twenty-eight inches at the base, which was torn out of the ground and stripped of all its branches, leaving only the bare trunk, from which the bark was nearly all peeled off. A light pine shingle was driven from the outside through the clapboards, lath and plaster, and projects two inches from the inside wall of a dwellhave accomplished this. A common trawel, such as is used by masons, was driven through a pine knot in the side of a barn, projecting full two inches. In one spot was found a large pile of hook covers, every leaf from which was gone and the covers wrinkled and twisted into a thousand shapes. eaves were stripped of their tissue, leavng the fibres clean and bare as if a hotaist had neatly picked it off. Tree trunks were twisted several times round until they were broken off. The Millard House, a three story brick structure, fronting north, was lifted up from its foundation and tupned completely round, so that the front door faced the south. It then collapsed and seemed to fall outwardly, as if in a vacuum, and, strange to relate, out of seventeen persons in the house, only two were killed,- crushing as it fell and drowning three perions, the inmates. Mr. Butcher, of Camanche, told us, and he fact was testified to by others, that he saw the storm coming and closed his doors and windows, He then braced bimself against the back door, but the tornado took it from its hinges like a plaything, and carried him upon the door through the house out into the garden. He escaped with only slight injuries. A piano was taken out of house in the center of the town and carried some distance to the river bank without breaking it. The effects upon some of the houses near Camanche, which were in the onter edge of the tornado, were very curious. some roofs the shingles were stripped off in inciful shapes, a bare spot upor one roof exactly resembling a figure S. Some roofs were entirely unshingled, and in some cases every clapboard was taken off. The sides of some houses were literally perforated with boards, splintered timbers and sharp atakes.

One house upon the bank was lifted from ts foundation and whirled in the river,

In some parts of Camanche, where houses stood thickly clustered together, there is not the vestige of one left. Another tract of about forty acres is covered with splinters of about two feet in length. The lower stories of some houses were blown out entirely, leaving the upper story upon the ground. Other buildings slid from their oundations, and were carried along several feet. Chickens, hens and turkies were stripped of their feathers, and left as bare as if ready for market, and on the prairies prairie chickens and small birds were found n the same condition, and in some cases nothing but the bones left, the flesh being stripped from them.

The ferry boat which plied between Ca manche and Albany was completely wrecked. Her engines looked as if some giant had seized them at top and bottom and folded them into a hard knot, so twisted and tangled were they. Two Germans who were riding in a buggy just out of Camanche were blown completely into the city, and their team carried in another direction. They were picked up dead. Another man, an entire stranger in Camanche, was picked up in the street, with food in his mouth, showing that he was eating supper at the time of the occurrence. His pockets were filled with sand and leaves. abouts could not be ascertained. A child, four years old, was carried through the air some distance and denosited in a slough uninjured.

We might cover the paper with incidents of this kind, almost miraculous in their na-ture, and impossible to be believed by one who has not witnessed the fearful desolation which sits upon these deserted villages .-The facts as above related, were the results of our own observation, and detailed to us by the most prominent gentlemen of Camanche and that vicinity. They may be relied upon as strictly true.

BURIAL SERVICES. The burial services of the dead took place yesterday morning. A temporary stand was erected in the principal street, and clergymen from various parts of the country officiated. About 2000 people were present and an almost endless procession of wagons from the country. The coffins, pine boxes, hastily but neatly constructed by carpenters from Clinton, were ranged in front of the stand, and amid the most profound and solemn silence, the obsequies were performed. The funeral train then took its departure to the little cemetery where were laid away the remains of towns men only a few hours before in the full glow of life; twenty-nine bodies, a number exceeding those who had gone before them to their last resting place on Pleasant Hill tears and entreaties. The man who, upon such an occasion, would perpetrate such an outrage, deserves to be tornadoed into the hottomless pit.

In one of the wagons rode a little boy, who had lost his father and mother. After his extrication from the rains, he went back, and while searching for some remnant of the old home, he found a locket containing when a fiend in the shape of a man came and in many places, with human beings, up to him, and asked him what he had there, who were hurled about like straws. The He replied, "my mother." The brute askafrighted horses and cattle filled the air ed him to let him see it. He gave to him, with their tarvible and about a straight and a straight a straight and a straight a straight a straight a straight and a straight a straigh with their terrible and shrill screams; but but it was neither returned, in spite of his Geo. M. Patchen. Time, 2:21, 2:24, 2:213.

DESTRUCTION OF ALBANY. After destroying Camanche, the tornado crossed the river, forming an immense water spout. In this connection we should have mentioned before, that every time it crossed the river it drew up an immense quantity of water, which was dashed with fearful violence wherever it struck. In crossing the river, it struck a raft containing twenty-six persons and dashed it to pieces in an instant. Only two of the entire number escaped, they being blown ashore through the water.... On reaching the opposite bank, the whirlwind took a northerly direction and dashed upon Albany, two miles distant, with terrific force, destroying almost every house in the town, populated by 800 inhabitants.— The large warehouse of Dennis & Lincoln, C. P. Pease, McIlvaine and Happer, and Durant & Haines, upon the levee, were entirely destroyed. Scarcely a house was left standing in the town. It was an exact counterpart of the destruction of Caman-che, except that the loss of life was much smaller. At the time of our leaving only five were known to be killed, as follows :-Edward Effrer, Duty Breck, L. Jewett, Martin C. Kelly and C. Alexander. Eight were severely wounded, viz: Lewis Bates, Joseph Riley and wife, Justice Riley, Mrs. W. Slocum, Mary Stagg, Mrs. Swett and Hanson Nevitt.

Both the towns of Camanche and Albany are entirely ruined, and it is a doubtful problem whether they will ever be rebuilt, Most of the houses were owned in part by the tenants, who have payments yet to make upon them. These men are poor and entirely ruined, and will be unable to meet their payments soon coming due. Everything is wrapped in utter desolation, and strong men seem to be palsied as they look upon the future. They have lost houses, furniture, stock and clothing, and are thrust

CONTRIBUTIONS AND GOOD DEEDS. The news of the disaster was brought vey quickly, by a messenger on horseback, Clinton and Lyons. Mile Smith, Esq. the efficient superintendent of the Chicago Iowa and Nebraska railroad, immediately fired up a train, and all the available steamers were brought into requisition. The in habitants of the two towns turned out en masse, and went to Camanche and Albany, and worked all night. Capt. Ross, of the steamer Key Oity, and Capt. Conant, of the Commodore, also carried up large numbers of people. Both these steamers and the railroad trains were given to the people gratis during Monday and Tuesday. Men-women and children came to the relief, and quickly made up contributions of clothing and provisions, and sent them up. The car-penters and mechanics, provided with their cols, went up and went to work, providing fully in the cause of suffering humanity.— Dr. Howell and C. H. Toll, Esq., of Clinton, yorked arduously night and day, as well as thousands of others, who have just cause to he prond of Clinton and Lyons. The contributions in each from Clinton Lyons and Cordova, up to one o'clock yesterday, reached the sum of $250. We hope that the public of this city will respond liberally to the call for aid. Elsewhere will be found the names of committees appointed to receive contributions and their ad-

shelter for the homeless ones. No business

NUMBER OF RULLEH.

The following carefully prepared list empraces the number of those killed in Iowa. It will, we think, be found nearly correct: ledar Rapids, 2 Mechanicsville, 5 Onion Grove, Mt. Vernon. Regers Settlement, 1 De Witt. Camanche,

1 Albany, 5 4 Blown from raft, 24 Orange, 14 The above list does not include those killed in this state and published in our issue of yesterday. In all of the places mentioned above, except Camanche and Albany. the bodies were found in the township and not in the village proper.

After leaving Albany, the tornado passed into this state, where the record of its ravages has been already published. As the distance traversed by the tornade was about 150 miles, allowing for its deviations, and the time of its passage from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to Sterling, was less than two hours, one may form an idea of the terrible velocity, with which it swept along in its course of destruction.

From the Chicago Journal. THE IOWA TORNADOES.

As I write you, all the charming little villages which dot the fertile slopes on either side of the Chicago, Iowa & Nebraska railroad between Cedar Rapids and Camanche, a station 5 mile south of Clinton, are wrapped in desolation and their inhabitants clad ed condensed facts, have passed over them like the wings of the destroying angel, and towns which one moment stood beautiful. like the wings of the destroying angel, and the other not a vestige of the furniture can towns which one moment stood beautiful in be found. Here and there a few shreds of the setting sun, at the next moment, in a clothing or a mattrass torn into ribbons, second, in the twinkling of an eye, were razed to the ground in one mass of chaotic ruins; tearthstones were destroyed; the hopes of the farmer and mechanic thwarted by the terrible Cyclone; and many family circles in an instant broken, past reuniting. In many places here and there a house distorted and twisted into fanciful shapes, a rag ged mass of shivered timbers or a crum-bling chimney, alone marks the site of a town The tornadoes, for they were two in num ber, commenced as near as can be ascertained at a little town called Palo, a short distance above Cedar Rapids, about 7 o'clock on Sunday evening, and rapidly progressed to Cedar Rapids, gathering size and force in their course. At Cedar Rapids, they veered and almost miraculously passed or either side of the town. On the west side. five houses were completely demolished, one two houses were blown down, but their occupants escaped. In the woods near this point, a man observed the tornado approachtection. They passed over him, hurling him a distance of some rods and stripping every vistage of clothing from his body.-Another man was surprised in a similar manner and threw his arms around a young beech tree, holding on with all his strength, which was considerable, as he was an unusually powerful man. The whirlwind however, as quick as thought, unwrenched his grasp, as one would snap a pipe stem, hurled him inzens of Bertrain, the first station east of Cedar Rapids, was caught up from the town plat, hurled in the air and carried high above the timber until he was out of sight. R. were utterly demolished and their contents scattered to the four winds of beavily loaded with humber was lifted into the air and turned over twice, finally descending with such force as to completely shiver the car and its contents into indistinguishable fragments and splinters. Four persons were killed in the vicinity of Lisbon and one at Roger's Settlement, a village a few miles from Listion, whose names had not ed, but the neighboring country was the scene of terrible devastation. The crops in large numbers, inflicting an almost irreparable loss upon the farmers. Trees were and dashed down again a few feet from its original situation, burying itself some three or four feet in the ground. In the vicinity of Mt. Vernon, five persons are known to have been killed, but their names are unknown, or were not handed in to the committee at the time of our leaving. The next place which felt the effects of the tornado, was the little town of Mechanicsville. It passed through the outskirts of the village, sweeping everything in its course. Nine dead bodies were found within a short distance of the town, and mineteen persons were injured, two of them seriously. At Onion Grove, two persons were killed; and one at Eden, a small settlement between Cedar Rapids and De Witt.

At De Witt, especially in the township, the tornado was felt with fearful force. At his place it crossed the track in a southerly direction, passing through a portion of country occupied entirely by farmers, destroying many farms and killing a great amount of stock. Anold farmer, named George Ames, living in a large brick house, saw the storm rapidly approaching, and gathering his family together went into the potato hole in the cellar. The house was entirely demolished, but the whole family were saved. cell's, four were wounded; at Fuller's, six; at Betsey's, five. At Mr. Hatfield's, six persons by the name of Foster, were killed.
Mr. H.'s daughter, Sarah Fry, and her child, were also killed. At John Wallace's immense farm, eight were wounded, some of them seriously. Mr. W. s loss is over $20, 000. Mr. Walrod, his wife and child, were killed, and his sister-in-law and child were dying when we left. Mr. and Mrs. Gregoire, living upon the same farm, were killed.— Three Germans and two Irishmen, names unknown, were also killed. The village proper of De Witt escaped. In Orange township, west of De Witt, Isaac Smith was

But the most terrible effects of the torna-does were felt at CAMANCHE.

The day had been very hot and sultry, but about seven o clock the sky was clear and gave evidence of a beautiful sunset. At even o'clock, the tornadoes were seen comng with the rapidity of lightning. The sky assumed a yellowish, brassy aspect and the air seemed dead. The tornodoes themselves resembled huge balloons at first, about the swelling. At one time they rose and again fell to the earth, their black folds undulating and whirling with snapping, crackling reports like a volley of musketry, distinctly audible at a great distance. The interior of the airy tunnels was filled with a heterogeneous mass of leaves, branches of trees, timbers and stones, which seemed to impart ayellowish tinge inside the black outer folds. There was but little time for gazing, however, and while searching for some remnant of the old home, he found a locket containing reivable, the doomed town was struck full above all was heard the snapping and cracking of these fearful besoms of destruction. The scene well nigh beggars description outrage, descripts to be tornadoed into the

and one, after gazing upon it; only wonders bow a single person was left to tell the tale. There are but one or two buildings in this town of 2000 souls which were untouched; all the others are a shapeless mass of ruins. In many places, for several acres, every remnant of a house is gone and only a few scattered slivers mark the spot where they tell that the town was once inhabited.

The principal buildings in Camanche were the Millard House, a fine brick structure. The Waldorf Block, a four story brick, valued at $40,000; Evern & Co.'s dry goods store; Anthony's steam saw mill and two churches, all of which are in ruins. The names of the killed are as follows, being furnished to our reporter by the committee at Camanche: Hannah Curran, G. C. Westphaal, wife and child, Aret Hoeft, Mary Greenleaf, Elizabeth Rathbone, D. Waggoner, Deidlief Stollenburg, Amelia Davis, Charles Dauis, Leza Burnam, Phil n Peeper, Margaret Foss, Mary Foss, Eli Milliron, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Burnham, Joseph Stollenburg, Theodore Arpe, Harry McKendrick, S. D. Bigelow, Jacob Meyle, Augusta Meyle and two children, Mary Knapp, Weymond White, and a child of Geo. W. Chase-total 29. The official list posed were blown into the river. INCIDENTS.

Many of the incidents connected with the ornado at Camanche almost surpass human pelief, and will hardly be credited by those who have not seen the ruins. A chimney upon Mr. Anthony's house, weighing about two tons, was broken off at its junction with the roof, lifted into the air and hurled down into the front yard, burying itself in the ground to a depth of three feet without reaking or cracking a single brick. noticed an oak tree on the river bank, by measurement twenty-eight inches at case, which was torn out of the ground and stripped of all its branches, leaving only the bare trunk, from which the bark was nearly all peeled off. A light pine shingle was driven from the outside through the clapboards, lath and plaster, and projects two inches from the inside wall of a dwell ling house. No other known force could have accomplished this. A common trow-el, such as is used by masons, was driven through a pine knot in the side of a barn, projecting full two inches. In one spot was found a large pile of book covers, every leaf from which was gone and the covers wrinkled and twisted into a thousand shapes. Leaves were stripped of their tissue, leaving the fibres clean and hare as if a botanist had neatly picked it off. Tree trunks were twisted several times round until they were broken off. The Millard House, a three story brick structure, fronting north, was lifted up from its foundation and turned completely round, so that the front door faced the south. It then collapsed and seemed to fall octwardly, as if in a vacuum, and, strange to relate, out of seventeen persons in the house, only two were One house upon the bank was lifted from its foundation and whirled in the river, crushing as it fell and drawning three per sons, the inmates. Mr. Butcher, of Camanche, told us, and the fact was testified to by others, that he saw the storm coming and closed his doors He then braced himself against the back door, but the tornado took t from its hinges like a plaything, and carried him apon the door through the house out into the garden. He escaped with only slight injuries. A piano was taken out of house in the center of the town and carried some distance to the river bank without breaking it. The effects upon some of the houses near Camanche, which were in the outer edge of the tornado, were very curions. Upon some roofs the shingles were stripped off in funciful shapes, a hare spot upon one roof exactly resembling a figure 8. Some roofs were entirely unshingled, and in some cases every claphoard was taken off. The sides f some houses were literally perforated with hoards, splintered timbers and sharp

Another tract not the vestige of one left. of about forty acres is covered with splin-ters of about two feet in length. The lower stories of some houses were blown out entirely, leaving the upper story upon the ground. Other buildings slid from their oundations, and were carried along several feet. Chickens, hens and turkies were stripped of their feathers, and left as bare ready for market, and on the prairies prairie chickens and small birds were found n the same condition, and in some cases nothing but the bones left, the flesh being stripped from them. The ferry boat which plied between Ca manche and Albany was completely wreck-ed. Her engines looked as if some giant had seized them at top and bottom and folded them into a hard knot, so twisted and tangled were they. Two Germans who and their team carried in another direction They were picked up dead. Another man. an entire stranger in Camauche, was picked up in the street, with food in his mouth, showing that he was eating supper at the time of the occurrence. His pockets were filled with sand and leaves. His whereabouts could not be ascertained. A child, four years old, was carried through the air some distance and deposited in a slough uniniured. We might cover the paper with incidents of this kind, almost miraculous in their na-ture, and impossible to be believed by one who has not witnessed the fearful desolation which sits upon these deserted villages .-The facts as above related, were the results of our own observation, and detailed to us by the most prominent gentlemen of Carelied upon as strictly true.

BURIAL SERVICES. The burial services of the dead took place yesterday morning. A temporary stand was creeted in the principal street, and clergymen from various parts of the country officiated. About 2000 people were present and an almost endless procession of wagons from the country. The coffins, pine boxes, hastily but neatly constructed by carpenters from Clinton, were ranged in front of the stand, and amid the most profound and solemn silence, the obsequies were performed. The funeral train then size of a barrel, but gradually increasing and | took its departure to the little cemetery where were laid away the remains of towns-men only a few hours before in the full glow of life; twenty-nine bodies, a number exceeding those who had gone before them to their last resting place on Pleasant Hill

In one of the wagons rode a little boy, who had lost his father and mother. After his extrication from the ruins, he went back, the old home, he found a locket containing a picture of his mother. He stood upon the ruins rubbing it with his coat sleeve, when a fierd in the shape of a man came ments of thinders, oracks, somes, turniture, and in many places, with human beings, and in many places, with human beings, and the street at Aurora, Ill., yesterday, just after leaving his house to go to work.

In ments of thinders, oracks, somes, turniture, and a nend in the snape of a man came up to him, and asked him what he had there. He replied, "my mother." The brute ask affrighted horses and cattle filled the air with their terrible and shrill screams; but it was neither returned, in spite of his bottomless pit.

DESTRUCTION OF ALBANY. After destroying Camanche, the tornado crossed the river, forming an immense water spout. In this connection we should have mentioned before, that every time it crossed the river it drew up an immense quantity of water, which was dashed with earful violence wherever it struck. crossing the river, it struck a raft containng twenty-six persons and dashed it to pieces in an instant. Only two of the enire number escaped, they being blown sbore through the water.

On reaching the opposite bank, the whirl-wind took a northerly direction and dashed apon Albany, two miles distant, with terrific force, destroying almost every house in the town, populated by 800 inhabitants.— The large warehouse of Dennis & Lincoln C. P. Pease, McIlvaine and Happer, and Durant & Haines, upon the levee, were entirely destroyed. Scarcely a house was left standing in the town. It was an exact counterpart of the destruction of Caman-che, except that the loss of life was much smaller. At the time of our leaving only five were known to be killed, as follows:— Edward Effrer, Duty Breck, L. Jewett, Martin C. Kelly and C. Alexander. Eight were severely wounded, viz: Lewis Bates, Joseph Riley and wife, Justice Riley, Mrs. W. Slocum, Mary Stagg, Mrs. Swett and Hanson Nevitt. Both the towns of Camanche and Alba ny are entirely ruined, and it is a doubtful problem whether they will ever be rebuilt. problem whether they will ever Most of the houses were owned in part by the tenants, who have payments yet to make upon them. These men are poor and entirely rained, and will be unable to meet their payments soon coming due. Everyhing is wrapped in utter desolation, and strong men seem to be palsied as they look upon the future. They have lost houses, arniture, stock and clothing, and are thrust ont into the world, ruined in an instant. CONTRIBUTIONS AND GOOD DUEDS.

The news of the disaster was brought very quickly, by a messenger on horseback, to Clinton and Lyons. Milo Smith, Esq., he efficient superintendent of the Chicago lowa and Nebraska railroad, immediately fired up a train, and all the available steam ers were brought into requisition. The inhabitants of the two towns turned out en nasse, and went to Camanche and Albany, and worked all night. Capt. Ross, of the steamer Key City, and Capt. Conaut, of the Commodore, also carried up large numbers of people. Both these steamers and the railroad trains were given to the people gratis during Monday and Tuesday. Men, woman and children came to the relief, and quickly made up contributions of clothing and provisions, and sent them up. The car penters and mechanics, provided with their tools, went up and went to work, providing shelter for the homeless ones. No business was done in either city, but every one arged by the call of duty, worked nobly and man-fully in the cause of suffering humanity.— Dr. Howell and C. H. Toll, Esq., of Clinton, worked arduously night and day, as well as thousands of others, who have just cause to he proud of Clinton and Lyons.

The contributions in cash from Clinton, Lyons and Cordoya, up to one o'clock yes-terday, reached the sum of $250. We hope that the public of this city will respond lil erally to the call for aid. Elsewhere will be found the names of committees appoint ed to receive contributions and their addresses. NUMBER OF KILLED. The following carefully prepared list em-braces the number of those killed in Iowa. It will, we think, be found nearly correct: 2 Mechanicsville, 5 Onion Grove, Mt. Vernon. Regers Settlement, 1 De Witt, Camanche, Orange l Albany, 4 Blown from raft, 24 Lishon, 14 The above list does not include those killed in this state and published in our issue of vesterday. In all of the places mentioned above, except Camanche and Albany, the bodies were found in the township and not in the village proper.

After leaving Albany, the tornado passed into this state, where the record of its ravages has been already published.

As the distance traversed by the tornado was about 150 miles, allowing for its deviations, and the time of its passage from Ce dar Rapids, Iowa, to Sterling, was less than two hours, one may form an idea of the terrible velocity, with which it swept along in its course of destruction.

A DISAPPOINTMENT. -- The Sabbath school connected with the Methodist church in Beloit, parents of the scholars, and members of the congregation, in all to the number of nearly 500, arrived in this city this morning to participate in the celebration which is postponed until to-morrow. For some reason, information as to the day of postponment failed to reach that school yesterday, and the present visit was made in the expectation that the celebration would take place today. As a consequence this arrival was unexpected, and no provision had been made for the reception of the school. The visitors will return this afternoon, and the celebration to morrow will take place without a large number of children and adults all would be glad to have present.

132. If we understand the telegraphic despatches from Washington to-day, (and we don't think we do) the house had a stormy session yesterday afternoon, sat all night and up to noon to-day, and finally adjourned over till Friday. What the fass was about the telegraph, singularly enough (?) don't say, and we therefore omit the despatches.

For The motion to report the Pacific railroad bill to the house, made in the committee to whom the bill had been referred, was defeated on the 5th, Col. Aldrich of Minnesota changing his vote for that purpose. The reason was that the northern route had been left out, and the chairman, Mr. Cartis, refused to allow any amendment to be made in the house: duclaring that he would call for the previous question, as soon as the report was made. The committee will meet again.

London, May 25. The Sicilian news is very meagre and outlicting. It is reported, and some anhorities assert correctly, that Garibaldi had ontered Palermo with 9000 infantry and cavalry, and that the Neapolitans were layng down their arms. It was also stated that Garibaldi had is saed a stirring proclamation, stating that he assumed, provisionally, the Dictatorship of Sicily. He was received with the greatest enthusiasm at Palermo. The news locks reliable confirmation, and some regard it as premature. There was a great panie at Messina,

A DISAPPOINTMENT .- The Sabbath school connected with the Methodist church in Beloit, parents of the scholars, and members of the congregation, in all to the number of nearly 509, arrived in this city this morning to participate in the celebration which is postponed until to-morrow. For some reason, information as to the day of postponment failed to reach that school yesterday, and the present visit was made in the expectation that the celebration would take place to-day. As a consequence this arrival was unexpected, and no provision had been made for the reception of the school. The visitors will return this afternoon, and the celebration to-morrow will take place without a large number of children and adults all would be glad to have present.

If we understand the telegraphic despatches from Washington to day, (and we don't think we do) the house had a stormy session vesterday afternoon, sat all night and up to noon to-day, and finally adjourned over till Friday. What the fuss was about the telegraph, singularly enough (?) don't say, and we therefore omit the des-

Janesville, Wis.

The motion to report the Pacific railroad bill to the house, made in the committee to whom the bill had been referred, was defeated on the 5th, Col. Aldrich of Minnesota changing his vote for that purpose. The reason was that the northern route had been left out, and the chairman, Mr. Curtis, refused to allow any amendment to be made in the house; declaring that he would call for the previous question, as soon as the report was made. The committee will meet again.

At the meeting held in Chicago for The relief of the sufferers by the late tornadoes $2,025 was subscribed. A monster musical concert at the Wigwam is proposed for the purpose of raising more aid.

A WHOLE FAMILY POISONED .- An English family named Kennedy, residing in Chicago, had a narrow escape from being fatally poisoned by the enrelessness of eating a quantity of the herb Stramonium or Deadly Night-shade, which they had boiled for greens, thinking it to be wild beets .-All were deranged for many hours, and it was with some difficulty that they were relieved by medical aid. They were doing well at last accounts. This plant grows in this region as a tall, rank, offensively smelling weed, by the roadside, and is called thorn apple.

At the annual meeting of policy holders in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of Wisconsin, for the election of nine trustees whose terms of office expired on Monday, June 4th, the following were re-James Bonnell, M. Steever, Daniel Newhall and Carl Schurz of Milwaukee: and the following were elected: Henry S. Baird of Green Bay, Dr. James Cady of Watertown, J. I. Case of Racine, Simeon Mills of Madison. At the meeting of the trustees in the evening, the former officers and executive committee were re-elected, and the business of the year was pronounced highly satisfactory.

Life Insurance.

Those desiring this safest and cheapest protection for their families, can secure it in our Wisconsin company. It has already become, in reality, a state institution, having agents and patrons among the best business me in all the principal towns in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted as well in Wiscousin as in Connecticut or any other eastern lives, it also demands that they should keep their money for investment at home. Confident that our success has Leen more than equal to that of the most "upprecedent ed," we would cordially invite all our citizens to call at the office, southwest corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, and examine for themselve-S. S. DAUGETT, President.

The Sicilian accounts are conflicting.-

Garibaldi had entered Palermo and assumed the dictatorship. Sicilian official despatches claim a victory over Garibaldi.

The proceedings in the house of commons indicate that the government will be unable to carry the reform bill through this season, and they had virtually determined to abandon it. The result of the great Derby race was sent in the telegraph news by the last steam-

Umpire ran forward through the race FAMILIES, PHYSICIANS, PAINTERS, but came in at the end the sixth horse, being long distanced by the winner, Thor-It is rumored that the emperor of Russia contemplates visiting Paris. It was also reported that the Montieur was about to publish a speech by the French embassador to the sultan of Turkey of an alarming nanre. The friends of the grand dake of Tuscany continued the agitation at Florence for his restoration. The government had seized inportant documents containing instrucions for an insurrection in the states of the churches. Prince Gortschakoff had issued a circular explaining the reason why the Turkish em-bassador was not admitted to the diplomatic meeting of christians in Turkey.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH. London, May 25.

The Sicilian news is very meagre and conflicting. It is reported, and some authorities assert correctly, that Garibaldi had entered Palermo with 9000 infantry and cavalry, and that the Neapolitans were laying down their arms.
It was also stated that Garibaldi had is sued a stirring proclamation, stating that he assumed, provisionally, the Dictatorship of Sicily. He was received with the greatest enthusiasm at Palermo. The news lacks reliable confirmation, and some regard it as premature.

There was a great panic at Messina, among the authorities and their officials. Neapolitan despatches of the 22d and 23d of May, assert that the insurgents were beaten twice and driven from their positions and pursued, and that one of their leaders Rosselina Puta, was killed.
